

The Scottish Centre
For Developmental Transactional Analysis

TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS 101
OFFICIAL INTRODUCTORY 2 DAY COURSE -

30th & 31st October 2008

This is the 'official' introduction to TA that provides a comprehensive overview of the principle TA concepts and practice models. It will appeal to professionals from the fields of organisation development, human resources, coaching, line management and education.

Transactional analysis (TA) is a theory of personality and a systematic approach to achieving personal, interpersonal and organisation development. TA has gained major recognition for its effectiveness in developing individuals, teams and organisations. It is also used extensively in schools and in adult education as a creative and supportive framework for influencing learning.

Strengthen your professional practice by learning the key concepts from this robust psychological framework.

The course will be run by Sandra Wilson, who is a Provisional Teaching and Supervising Transactional Analyst (Organisational). Sandra is an organisation development professional with over 25 years experience in business. She is a coach and coach trainer who uses Transactional Analysis as the psychological framework which underpins her work. The main focus for her professional practice is in engaging people in their own development and encouraging a holistic approach to professional growth.

Course location is the West Park Centre Dundee (full details will be sent on receipt of booking); it is within easy reach of Edinburgh, Glasgow, Stirling, Aberdeen and Dundee.

The course will run from 9.30 am to 4.30 pm each day.

Costs

The cost for this two day workshop is £250 plus VAT = £295.75. This includes all course materials, teas, coffees and lunch on both days. Book two places and get the second place at a 30% discount.
